

Other ways to support us

Providing a gift or service to Heart Research UK can help us to reduce our running costs and allow us to concentrate our funding on our research.

Heart Research UK is the charity dedicated to your heart. We're taking on heart disease, and we need your help.

By providing a "gift in kind", your organisation can get directly involved in enabling us to spend our money on more vital research.

Offering your professional support and experience

It could be anything from offering free legal advice and marketing expertise to having a specialist staff member seconded to our charity for the day/week to help us deliver a specific project.

Donation of a gift

We are always extremely grateful to any business who can offer us a gift which we can raise money from. These include:

- 'Money can't buy' auction prizes
- IT equipment
- Office supplies and consumables
- Raffle prizes such as champagne, hotel stays and restaurant vouchers.

We are focused on keeping our running costs low. This allows us to spend more money on our pioneering research in to the prevention, treatment and cure of heart disease.

We only employ the essential staff we need to ensure we can deliver our objectives. Gifts in kind and professional support help us to ensure more funds go directly towards our important work.
